See you there!!!

There are various ways we can understand who God is. We can look at God as Creator. We can look at God as King. We can look at God as a judge. We can look at God as our friend. We can look at Jesus, as our brother. All these ways are valid and true.

The main way you understand who God is for you will determine what kind of relationship you will have with God and how intimate that relationship will be.

If you relate to God as your creator, God will be someone who is all powerful, marvelous but somewhat distant or separated. If you look at God as your King, then you will relate to him as a servant who you must obey or else be punished. There will be some fear. If you see God as your judge, your relationship with God will have a lot of tension and also fear. If you relate to God as your father, your attitude will be mainly an attitude of respect, obedience and trust that he does love you. If you look at God as friend, and Jesus as your brother, you will live knowing that he understands you, loves you, forgives you, and that he will never reject you.

What is the best way of relating to God? I believe we need all these ways of looking at God, but most of all God as our friend, and Jesus as our brother. This leads to a greater and more intimate relationship.

¿Cuál es la mejor manera de relacionarse con Dios? Creo que necesitamos todas estas formas de ver a Dios, pero sobre todo a Dios como nuestro amigo, y a Jesús como nuestro hermano. Esto lleva a una relación más grande e íntima.
